Lab Bonus Is Declared To Be Illegal

Connelly Will Give His Official Ruling at Adjourned Meeting of Council

Fire Case Cited

Aldermen Will Convene Thursday to Hear Details

A special session of the Common Council called to act last night on a proposed cost-of-living bonus for city laboratory employees, was adjourned to Thursday to weigh legal opinion before final action.

Vouchers authorized by the laboratory board at a recent meeting favored a bonus of $240 for each laboratory employee.

Submitted as vouchers only they were inadvertently voted through at the regular December meeting of the council, and are now held to be illegal.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, who said he will submit an opinion to the councilmen at their meeting Thursday, indicated today that to make a cost-of-living bonus retroactive without prior budgetary provision is considered illegal by the state.

Similar Case Cited
A similar bonus move for members of the local paid fire department was cited to stress the present status of the laboratory vouchers.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said that a report of the state auditor for 1947-48, held that a bonus of $85 for each man of the fire department voted by the council at the time was contrary to state laws because it was voted through late in the fiscal year without prior provision in the budget.

No Covering Letter

The vouchers were received just before the council meeting Dec. 4 and they went to the council's auditing committee with other bills and vouchers without a letter explaining the laboratory board's action on the cost-of-living bonus, it was learned at the city clerk's office. They were acted upon along with the other bills and vouchers.

Normal functioning of the city clerk's office brought the bonus voucher situation to light and a special meeting of the council was called on order of Aldermen David Schechter, Abram Relyea, Hirschell Mayes, Paul J. Schatzel and Robert Cullum.

Against State Law
The state opinion on a bonus of the type paid the firemen in 1947, although it was then favored by the Common Council, considers such money a virtual gift because it has no prior budgetary provision, the corporation counsel indicated. Gifts of public funds are illegal under provisions of the state constitution.

This and other points will be aired at the recessed meeting of the Common Council at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Eighth Ward Alderman Joseph N. Bruck moved for the recessed session and Alderman Schatzel seconded the motion.

It was suggested that Dr. Dows S. Meyers, James A. Dwyer and Dr. Herbert Derman of the laboratory board, along with the corporation counsel be invited to attend the recessed council session so that the problem may be fully aired.

Kaplan Heads Board

Harry Kaplan was unanimously elected president of the Ulster County Board of Health at the board's regular monthly meeting Monday night. Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale, whose term as a member of the Board of Health expired this year, was re-appointed to the board by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors at the supervisors' Dec. 3 meeting. Dr. Galvin's term will be six years.

To Press Eisenhower

Paris, Dec. 11 (AP)—Harold Stassen arrived in Paris today hoping to get Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to say yes or no about seeking the Republican nomination for president. He sees the general tomorrow. Stassen refused to answer a question whether he would run if the general refused. Stassen, who is accompanied by his wife, plans a week's tour of western Europe.

Civil Service Exam

The U. S. Civil Service Commission today announced examinations for filling the positions of geologist, paying $3,410 and $4,205 a year, a shorthand reporter, paying $2,785 to $3,080 a year. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, William P. Barry, located at the main post office building.

'Nothing Unethical'

Democratic Chairman Frank E. McKinney displays a New York newspaper headlining his reported $74,000 profit, at a Washington news conference. He said there was "nothing unethical" about the deal, in which he is supposed to have cleared the profit on a $1,000 investment in a concern that is now bankrupt. (NEA Telephoto).

Wants Full Public Airing To Clear Party on Profit

Probe Is Planned On Excess Profits By Auto Industry

Sales Practices Are Under Fire as Group Begins Check on Buying at Army Center

Detroit, Dec. 11 (AP)—Top auto industry executives may be called to explain sales practices which government agents claim have cost the country's defense effort more than $300,000,000 in excess profits in the last three years.

A congressional investigating committee, headed by Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), heard the accusations yesterday as it opened week-long hearings into purchases by the army's tank-automotive center here.

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) suggested that automotive officials be called. Hardy said they had been "invited" to appear and that if they failed it might be necessary to subpoena them.

Committee Investigator John L. Shaffer testified yesterday that the tank-automotive center has difficulty in purchasing parts directly from manufacturers.

Five Concerns Cited
He said manufacturers frequently refuse to bid on government contracts or else bid out of proportion so that the middlemen get a crack at the profits.

General Motors Corp., Electric Auto-Lite, Studebaker, Timken-Detroit Axle Co., and Chrysler were among these singled out for criticism.

Chairman Hardy exclaimed at one point in the hearing: "Why should a parasite get a profit for performing no economic services just to get a little rake-off?"

Shaffer said he based his estimate of $300,000,000 in excess profits paid out since 1949 on an investigation covering the last 14 months.

Costs Are Higher

Shaffer said the government paid an additional 30.2 per cent for automotive parts from General Motors by buying through its sales agency, United Motors Service Division.

He explained: "When General Motors sells direct to the government, it makes an average profit of 5.7 per cent. But when it sells to the government through its sales agency, the profit is 30.2 per cent."

Without direct reference to McKinney's explanation of the stock deal, Shaffer said: "I figured that way she wouldn't be found."

Homicide Inspector Merle Longnecker said Samuel Hutchins orally confessed the hatchet slaying and promised to sign a transcript today. The boy was held without charge pending further questioning.

Sammie was arrested at Grass Valley, where his wealthy father has summer home, four hours after firemen discovered the body yesterday. Mrs. Evelyn S. Hutchins, 51, had been hacked at least 12 times, examiners said.

Longnecker quoted Sammie as saying his mother surprised him in their basement and "bawled me

Business Houses Complete All Details for Season

Preparations were being made in local retail stores this week for the final pre-Christmas sales spurt.

Uptown stores, by a previously announced agreement, will begin evening store hours for the convenience of their customers this Friday and will be open until 9 p. m. each night except Sunday from Dec. 14 through Dec. 22, inclusive.

Many mid-town and downtown stores have already started their evening hours.

Close at 5 Dec. 24

Most stores will be closed by 5 p. m. Monday, Dec. 24, the day before Christmas, so that clerks and other personnel will be able to enjoy Christmas Eve at home. Some stores will have Christmas parties for their personnel after the close of business on Monday.

Holiday trimmings were complete this week in most business areas, with decorative street lighting and special window decorations.

Drive in Style

Munsan, Korea, Dec. 11 (AP)—Communist delegates drove to the Panmunjom truce conference today in chromium trimmed sedans instead of military jeeps. It was a case of keeping up with the Joneses. Allied delegates switched from jeeps to a green army sedan last month. Today Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang rode in an American made 1949 Ford, with horn honking. Then came North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho in a Russian Pobeda (Victory).

Troopers Probing Fires in Capitol

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—Two small fires in the State Capitol were being investigated today by state police. Three unidentified boys were suspected.

Building guards discovered the flames last night shortly after the building had been closed to the public for the day. One was on the second floor, near Governor Dewey's office, and the other was in the Senate chamber on the third floor.

Both were extinguished by guards. Damage was slight. State police said they believed the fires were started by three small boys, seen running from the building shortly after it was closed.

Three burned matches were found near one fire. That blaze scorched the desk of State Secretary William King and filled the chamber with smoke.

The second fire was on a landing near some bound files outside Dewey's office.

King said there was evidence that the culprits had tried to set fire to the Senate chamber in five other spots.

Burnt matches were found in a drawer of Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore's desk in the Senate chamber.

King said the attempts were "definitely of a malicious nature."

'Incredible Valor' Wins Medal of Honor

Rodriguez, with less than seven months in the service as an infantryman, knocked out five Communist gun emplacements in an "incredible display of valor." He was wounded eight days later in another engagement in Korea. He is the 29th Army man to receive the medal in the Korean war. (U. S. Army Photo from AP.)

20,000 Flee From Belching Volcano

Manila, Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty thousand refugees fled Camiguin Island and its erupting Hibok Hibok volcano today.

They crossed the strait to Mindanao Island by every means available, from Japanese freighter to outrigger canoe.

Behind them Hibok Hibok belched flames and smoke for the eighth consecutive day. Huge landslides thundered down its slopes.

Eugenio Omahoy, weather bureau geophysicist, said the volcano would "remain dangerous for some time." He advocated complete evacuation of the island.

The eruption killed at least 266 people. Another 500 are estimated buried under lava and ashes.

Roland Ladd Is Sought by Police; Had Trouble Here

Fired at Policeman When He Made His Escape at Clinton Hotel; Faces Robbery

One of two youths who provided action of the Hollywood gang-busting variety in the Governor Clinton Hotel in 1947 is at large again, local police learned through a teletype message yesterday.

Roland Ladd, of Stillwater, whose age was given as 18 when he escaped local police on Feb. 17, 1947, is wanted for an alleged armed robbery by authorities at Portland, Me., the message said.

Ladd fired a shot at Officer Carl Janasiewicz when he made his escape from a point near the Governor Clinton Hotel, but his companion, John Bruce McWhinnie, of Mechanicsville, then 17 years old, was captured by Robert Chesterman, an insurance adjuster who stayed at the hotel.

McWhinnie, who was armed, was making his way down a hotel fire escape dressed in a woman's coat and hat, when Chesterman, also armed, came upon him and commanded: "Drop that gun or I'll kill you!"

The youth obeyed and Chesterman's courage brought into custody one of the two youths who Officer Janasiewicz had picked up for a trip to police headquarters when he encountered them near the hotel shortly after 6 p. m.

Escapes Into Night

The officer trailed Ladd for some distance to the rear of the hotel where the youth turned to fire a shot and disappeared into the darkness. He was apprehended later upstate.

Meanwhile, McWhinnie had gone into the hotel and forced his way into the room of Mrs. Elizabeth Ladd.

Case for Damages To Levine Truck Is Started in Court

Charge Is Vehicle Forced Off Road by Healy Car Loaded With Steel for Dam

An action brought by Joseph Levine against the S. A. Healy Company to recover for damages which plaintiff allegedly suffered through the negligent operation of a large truck carrying reinforcing steel for the Lackawack dam job back in April 1949, was taken up for trial in Supreme court today.

Levine had a contract to supply poles to Poughkeepsie and one of his trucks, while enroute from Grahamsville to Poughkeepsie on route 55 near the junction of the Stove Pipe Hollow road, allegedly was forced off the road and overturned when the shoulder of the road gave way.

Driver's Story
The driver testified he was driving up a grade on a curve when a tractor and trailer carrying steel came over the brow of the hill "two or three" feet across the white line on his side of the road. He pulled to the side of the road and the shoulder gave way causing the trailer upon which the poles were being transported to go over a 35 foot embankment after breaking loose from the truck. He testified there was no collision and the Healy truck and a following crane had passed him.

Order Withdrawn
The prisoner question was taken up by a two-man subcommittee (one from each side) a few minutes after the Communists capitulated to Allied demands that the subject be tackled now.

Simultaneously the Red negotiators intimated they would agree to continued rotation of the country.

The probe will be the third in which the commission has held public hearings.

In issuing Proskauer's statement, H. Bartow Farr, Jr., assistant commission counsel, noted that "the outcome (of public hearings) in both Odensburg and Staten Island was the appointment of a special

$5,000 Payment Given Approval Last Fall by McGrath When He Was Consulted

Trust Questioned

Never Dishonest Says Official Fired by Truman

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath today defended the propriety of a $5,000 commission received by T. Lamar Caudle on an airplane sale but conceded it was a "unique case."

As for some of the other activities of his ousted former assistant attorney general, McGrath said:

"I hold no brief nor any indiscretions of which Mr. Caudle may have been guilty, nor do I presume to pass judgment on him."

The cabinet official was called before a House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating tax scandals and the administration of the Justice Department tax division, formerly headed by Caudle. McGrath said he had not the "slightest doubt" of the propriety of Caudle's having accepted the $5,000 paid him as commission on the sale of a $30,000 airplane to Larry Knohl, associate of the two New Yorkers then under indictment on charges of tax fraud.

Case Called "Unique"

Rep. Kean (R-N. J.) asked if payment of such a large amount to a government official in a private transaction was "not unusual."

"It never happened before," McGrath replied.

"It was a unique case?" asked Kean.

"Yes," McGrath responded. "The $5,000 payment was approved by McGrath when Caudle asked him last September if it was all right to accept it."

Caudle testified that McGrath said it would be O.K. to take the money since Caudle had a large family.

Were in Tax Jam

It was handed to Caudle by a W. A. Stonnell, owner of a plane sold to Knohl. At that time, Knohl was helping prepare the defense of Samuel Aaron and Jacob Freidus, New York business men who were convicted in October of evading income taxes.

According to testimony before the committee, numerous efforts were made to delay the trial. Department memoranda were read before the committee quoting an "agreement" reached between Caudle and Charles Oliphant, chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, at one time not to prosecute the case.

Fired for Outside Jobs

President Truman fired Caudle last month for what the White House termed "outside activities."

And, with Caudle in the witness chair before him, Chairman King (D-Calif.) of the House committee told the former Justice Department official last night that he felt Caudle's "indiscretions" amounted "to a breach of your public trust."

In reply, Caudle said he might have been indiscreet but had never been dishonest.

The account of the commission on the airplane sale was only one of the stories the House group developed about Caudle.

It has also heard stories of mink coats bought at a discount through a tax attorney and of a Caudle trip to Europe last summer as the guest of a wine merchant.

Capping all that was the sensational story by Abraham Teitelbaum that two men, one of them

Chilean Christmas

Santiago, Chile (P)—A white Christmas is going to have tough competition from the local type of Yuletide this year in Santiago. Plans are under way for a festive celebration in a local park. Stalls sponsored by the embassies of different countries will bring the traditional Old World touch to an occasion which will take place in mid-summer heat. Cotton snow and papier-mache reindeer is the best that can be produced. The traffic through several of the main streets in the downtown area is diverted, and colored lights are strung across the streets from the buildings. Crowds stroll along in the evenings, enjoying a breath of air and perhaps feeling cooler for having seen the shop displays with cotton wool powdered with boracid, and the warm-clad Santa Claus.

Pigeon Goes Wrong

Sydney, Australia (P)—A homing pigeon, released at Oonadatta, Central Australia, for a 540-mile race to its loft at Adelaide, arrived in South Africa. Instead of joining his 500 companions in a straight dash home, the bird went off in the wrong direction. Two days later it was 150 miles off the West Australian coast in the Great Australian Bight. Then the bird sighted a speck on the horizon and flew towards the British freighter, Diomed, bound for South Africa. The pigeon from Adelaide plopped on the deck of the Diomed, exhausted after its 1000-mile flight. Diomed seamen took the pigeon on to South Africa.

Labor Board Sets Aside Ruling Favoring A & P

New York, Dec. 11 (P)—The National Labor Relations Board today ruled the "conduct" of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company "interfered" with its employees' free choice of a bargaining representative in a large New York metropolitan area.

The board also ordered a new representation election be held among some 2,500 A & P employees in 180 retail stores in the Manhattan and Bronx boroughs and in Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess counties.

In setting aside a management victory in a Sept. 27, 1950, election, the NLRB said the company distributed "anti-union petitions" but "vigorously opposed" distribution of literature by two unions.

A union official has said the election results showed 1,672 votes for no-union, 536 for a local of the CIO National Food Chain Store Employees, and 266 for a local of the AFL Retail Food Clerks Union. The CIO initiated the complaint.

The NLRB order, made public here and in Washington, directed that the new election be held when the New York regional NLRB office advises that "circumstances permit the free choice of a bargaining representative."

SUPREME COURT AND CANDIDATES

The name of Chief Justice Vinson crops up repeatedly as a presidential possibility whenever talk swings around to the prospect that President Truman might not run next year.

If the President should decide to retire and wish Vinson to run on the Democratic ticket as his successor, important questions will be automatically raised both for the chief justice and for the Supreme Court.

Vinson is known to be receptive to a possible presidential request, provided that he is not compelled to go directly from the high court to the political arena. As some have put it, he wants a "disrobing room," an interim job of prestige and distinction which will be deemed a proper reason for his leaving the court and will not mar either his own or the court's dignity.

According to numerous accounts, he was to have had Secretary of State Acheson's job if and when he resigned. But Acheson plainly has no intention of quitting, and Mr. Truman will not fire him. And it is now altogether too late for Vinson to take that post without seeming to be "just passing through."

There is some speculation Mr. Truman might create some sort of assistant presidency for him, as President Roosevelt did when he lured James F. Byrnes off the Supreme Court. Certainly few established jobs in Washington fill the very special requirements of Vinson's situation.

Aside from his personal dilemma, there is the matter of what such a move will do to the court. Whatever device is resorted to, the fact will be ill-disguised that the court will have been used as a steppingstone to high political office.

Any American, regardless of his calling, should be able to aspire to the presidency. No bar should exist for distinguished jurists as such. Nor should the people be denied the chance to select a man from any facet of American life.

But there is a real danger in turning to the Supreme Court for candidates. It was done in the case of Charles Evans Hughes in 1916, and has been talked of many times since. Yet the court can only suffer in consequence.

The judiciary is a distinct and independent branch of our government. The Supreme Court is its highest manifestation. Service on this tribunal should be viewed as among the highest duties a man can perform—as indeed it is.

To make it a recruiting bureau for political office—even for high appointive executive jobs—is to demean its stature. The court already has been damaged by being treated as a political Nirvana, the Great Reward for deserving politicians who understandably seek relief from the recurring anguish of election campaigns. It should not be further harmed by conversion into a way station on the route to the White House.

Possibly the die is cast in Vinson's case. If it is, jurists and statesmen alike should therefore be resolved to keep the high court apart from the political maelstrom, to turn to the bench for a candidate only when the country's need of him is extraordinarily compelling.

The report of a test among Los Angeles high school students said that three per cent of them couldn't tell time. Despite their handicap, we'll bet the students in that three per cent have not been getting to school earlier than necessary.

It is not altogether true that a book cannot be judged by its cover, nor a man by his outward appearance.

When wintry winds blast across the land, we may be forgiven for dreaming about spring fever.

Every hunting season is the same. The flies fly away with a bang.

Among the company he keeps a man is known by the stories he tells.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

HOW TO WRITE A BOOK

According to John Gunther, writing in "Look" magazine, General Eisenhower wrote "Crusade in Europe" in seven weeks. John Gunther is impressed by the performance. Yet, what puzzles me about this is that John Gunther says:

"... Two friends helped him, however, in editorial revision—Joseph Barnes, then the foreign editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and Ken McCormick, representing Doubleday and Company, Ike's publishers."

Now, a writer knows that nine-tenths of any craftsmanly job is editorial revision. That means reducing the copy to English; cutting out the useless pages, phrases, episodes and words; bringing the language through the crucible of thought, according to John Gunther, this task General Eisenhower entrusted to Joe Barnes and Ken McCormick.

Wendell Willkie entrusted his "One World" to the editorial talents of Joe Barnes. After that, Republicans lost interest in Willkie.

I first met Joe Barnes in connection with the Institute of Pacific Relations where he worked with Frederick Vanderbilt Field, E. C. Carter, and Owen Lattimore. At that time, Barnes and Field were very close friends. For many years, however, I have only hearsay knowledge of Barnes's career.

General Alexander Barmine, who had been a Russian charge d'affaires at Athens and who has served in Soviet intelligence work but is now an American citizen, testified under oath before the McCarran Committee, described a conversation which he had, while still in the Soviet service, with General Berzin, a Soviet intelligence officer. The following colloquy is given in the committee records:

"Senator Eastland. Now General Berzin was the head of Soviet military intelligence?"

"Mr. Barmine. That is right."

"Senator Eastland. He spoke of Mr. Lattimore and Mr. Barnes as two agents of Soviet military intelligence?"

"Mr. Barmine. He spoke of them as 'our men.'"

"Dr. Karl Wittfogel, a former Communist, testified under oath:

"Senator Ferguson. Who was building it (a Communist organization) up at Harvard?"

"Dr. Wittfogel. I think Barnes was a leading man."

"Mr. Morris. . . . Did you have a controversy or conversation with Joseph Barnes during the Hitler-Stalin pact?"

"Dr. Wittfogel. . . . Just by accident, Owen Lattimore was in town. We had a conversation, the three of us. It was one of those attempts, I thought, 'here, you might pull Barnes out of what he has been in. He has been in it, but maybe he has seen the light.' I pulled him out."

"I tried to disentangle him, to uproot him as far as I could. I told him many things about my own experience. . . ."

(Wittfogel describes his knowledge as a German Communist. You can read it all in the published volumes of the McCarran Committee.)

"... What interested me was that his reaction was to take up the defense of Mr. Lattimore and the Committee without going into the facts. If he had an open mind, he should have said, 'Let's really weigh the facts.'"

"I saw here a man who was fanatical. He stuck by his allegiance to the Comintern which he defended in an abstruse manner. He didn't care about the facts. . . . That was the end of my contact with Barnes."

Whittaker Chambers testified before the same committee in these words:

"... Peters (the principal Russian espionage agent in this country) told me that (Frederick Vanderbilt) Field was a member of an underground unit of the American Communist Party, which was meeting, if I remember correctly, in a house belonging to Mr. Field's mother somewhere in central Park West, New York. In that unit were Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Joseph Barnes. Peters was considerably disturbed about the unit because some difficulty had arisen between the two men about their wives. . . . (Mrs. Field had divorced him and married Barnes.)"

Robert Morris, committee counsel, summed up the situation as follows:

"It may be as laboring this too much on Mr. Barnes. Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chambers is now the fourth witness who has identified Mr. Barnes as a member of some Communist unit and Communist organization, and yet I think it is necessary, Mr. Chairman, because Mr. Barnes continues to deny it."

I wish to make the point that I personally know nothing about Mr. Barnes's connections with the Communist Party. This testimony is, however, important and is here given in connection with John Gunther's statement that Barnes was one of the editors of General Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe." There is no conflicting testimony to show that Barnes is a Republican, if that matters. (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

LEAVING TB HOSPITAL TOO SOON

It is extremely discouraging for physicians and nurses in a tubercular sanatorium carefully to treat and nurse a patient for months, have him almost recovered and ready to leave the institution when he or his family decide he has been there long enough and he is taken, or takes himself, away.

The majority of us would sympathize with the patient, but physicians try to impress it on every patient that rest and rest only until healing is complete is the only successful treatment, and that with a little patience, he will be able to return home and to work in time.

A very strong argument against leaving a tuberculosis institution before treatment is complete was given by Dr. Stuart Carey, Winnipeg, Canada, to the last meeting of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association as reported in The Canadian Medical Association Journal. Dr. Carey stated that one of the chief problems in treatment was keeping the patient in hospital long enough. His study, based on records of three Manitoba institutions during 1949, showed that out of 651 admissions, 305 were readmissions. Of these only 6.7 were true relapses. Some of the patients had left against medical advice or had refused surgery. Some 27 were capable of leading a normal life but were possible sources of danger to others.

Dr. Carey spoke of an isolation center in England where the patients could live normal lives with their families rather than be confined to hospital. He felt that patients should be given a frank explanation of their disease and treatment and a reason for sanatorium rules as soon as they were admitted.

While I was visiting a young friend in a tuberculosis sanatorium, a new patient was placed in the bed next to him. I recognized the new patient as a heavyweight amateur boxer. He greeted me as follows: "Well, here I am, Doc, for the next two years. The doctor told me it would take two years to cure me, so I'm going to stick it out." This patient had been made ready to obtain a cure. It takes much less time today with the new drugs and surgery.

At this same meeting, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy minister of national health, told the association that successful treatment of tuberculosis was not alone drugs, surgery or bed rest nor did it stop when a patient returned home with his disease arrested or cured. Further treatment was rehabilitation, providing occupational counseling, training and job placement and acquainting possible employers with the qualifications of former patients.

It Just Doesn't Make Sense, Does It?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Long-view GOP strategists aren't advertising it, but a lot of them do not agree with the famed wisecrack of Illinois GOP committeeman Werner Schroeder, "The Republicans can even win if they nominate a Chinaman."

Even in view of the current Truman tax scandals, many GOP leaders admit privately that there could be a Democratic victory in 1952 if the Republican party gets overconfident. Here are three key factors on which they base this caution:

1. New York went for Dewey by only 60,959 in 1948. Simultaneously Wallace carried over 500,000 votes. Normally the Wallace votes would have gone Democratic, which would have given a margin of about 450,000 to Truman.

2. Pennsylvania went for Dewey in 1948 by 149,771 with 55,000 votes for Wallace, thus making Dewey's actual margin about 94,000. Meanwhile Pennsylvania has become more and more industrialized, with U. S. Steel putting up the biggest steel plant in the world on the banks of the Delaware river in the back yard of GOP Boss Joe Grundy. On top of this Philadelphia for the first time since 1884 has gone completely Democratic.

That's why long-range GOP leaders doubt if a reactionary Republican nominee would have the slightest chance of carrying the state next year.

3. California, now the second most populous state in the union, went for Truman in 1948—even with Governor Warren on the ticket for vice president.

Thus the three largest states, representing about one-fifth of the voting population may well go Democratic in 1952. This with the solid south and a few other states would about clinch a Democratic victory.

Note—In order to influence the party leaders toward picking the best Republican candidate, mail a postcard to the Merry-Go-Round, P.O. Box 1952, Washington 13, D. C., and give your opinion as to who the nominee should be. Remember, while the people elect, they do not always nominate. However, party leaders are susceptible to public opinion.

Whitewashing the King

Congressman Cecil King's committee investigating income tax influence is doing an A-1 job—except when it comes to investigating its own chairman.

No one really expected the committee's crack investigators to find their own boss guilty of influencing tax cases. However, if they had dug into King's activities half as relentlessly as they have rooted out other tax scandals, they would have come up with some eye-openers.

King is one of the ablest members of Congress, but believing his own case deserves the same close scrutiny as the cases he is investigating, this column has continued where his investigators left off.

This committee held three days of whirlwind hearings, all safely behind closed doors, then issued a public statement whitewashing King. No evidence had been found, the statement assured, that King had intervened in a tax investigation of Thomas A. Gregory, his old friend in Long Beach, Calif.

However, this column has unearthed some documents, which the King committee conveniently overlooked. These documents not only indicate that King brought pressure on the Justice Department in Gregory's behalf, but also sought to keep a loophole in the tax law for the entire nation—all at Gregory's urging.

Gregory is president of the Long Beach Savings and Loan Association, long under fire by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Justice Department. The board has made the following serious charges against Gregory:

That he made fantastic loans to firms in which he was financially interested;

That he used depositors' funds to get gambling concessions in Mexico;

That he diverted G. I. loans from the construction of veterans' homes to financing a project in which he had a personal interest;

That he set up 21,000 one-dollar accounts in the Long Beach Savings and Loan for voting purposes to perpetuate himself in control;

That he reported alleged tax irregularities, involving Gregory, to the Internal Revenue Bureau, which began an investigation in 1946.

What King Overlooked

The record—which Congressman King overlooked—shows that he immediately went to bat for Gregory. After a drawn-out, four-year legal battle, the congressman from California brought pressure on the Justice Department to compromise. Gregory, himself, admitted under oath that the compromise should include canceling all government charges against him, both civil and criminal. This, of course, would have ended the tax case against him.

King's part in the compromise is revealed in a confidential memo to Attorney General McGrath from Assistant Attorney General H. G. Morrison. Dated May 5, 1950, the memo reports: "Mr. Clapp and Mr. McGuinness (of the Justice Department) appeared before the Congressional Tax Inquiry Committee of the House Committee on Executive Expenditures, at his request on May 4. Congressman King and Hollifield of California were also present. . . . Congressman King stated that he had an offer of compromise (in the Gregory litigation) which he had been trying to bring to you for several days but had been unable to see you. He suggested that Mr. Clapp take the offer and transmit it to you."

In other words, Congressman King used a congressional committee to bring pressure on the Justice Department on behalf of his friend Gregory.

This is the kind of influence which he criticized on the part of others, but which he covered up by doing it himself. Any being a congressman with the power to place matters before a congressional committee, his degree of influence was much greater than that of the average citizen.

Spellman Going to Korea

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman will spend Christmas with troops in Korea. He says he wants to celebrate Mass on the holiday in three places as near the front lines as possible. The cardinal said last night that his plane trip will be on the invitation of Gen. James V. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander. The cardinal said Van Fleet wrote him on Oct. 22, "I much prefer bringing Christmas to our boys in Korea than being in St. Patrick's Cathedral on the day." Cardinal Spellman said, "I shall remain as long as is necessary to visit every combat unit."

Most Drastic Washington Housecleaning Ever Seen May Happen in Truman Regime

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 11 — Some of the dark clouds of gloom have their silver lining and soon reveal their own rays of hope. It is too early as yet to say that a housecleaning of the most far-reaching nature is in prospect in Washington, but the signs point to something more drastic than the government here has witnessed in decades of history.

For what is happening is a breakdown in morals that has been confined to no political party or administration — a sort of creeping paralysis that has had its origin in the Jacksonian motto: "To the victor belong the spoils." For what's wrong with official Washington is politics—the materialistic philosophy that governmental authority is political power and that special privilege is one of the normal and natural attributes of governmental discretion.

What's happened really is that centralized government is face to face with its first major crisis in fifty years. The trend toward centralization of everything in Washington has made the states and counties and cities less and less important as the Federal Government has collected and disbursed most of the money. With big taxes has come big expenditures and hence big power of discretion in spending and in administering laws.

The Republicans who held power for many years came a cropper under this system. They betrayed their trust by dispensing favors to large corporations and to the special interests which had contrived most heavily to campaign funds.

When the Democrats came in crying a "New Deal," the country was led to believe—through FDR's inaugural address, for example—that the "money-changers had to be driven from the temple." Here at last—the people thought—was a reform administration with all the virtues necessary for a new era. Gradually materialism began to eat its way into officialdom. The Works Progress Administration and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration were used to win the 1936 election, and many government departments which disbursed federal money used their power and influence to help win the 1940 election. Under the Roosevelt Administration, the doctrine that the end justifies the means became the paramount approach. It became the custom to argue that, after all, the other party was much worse. Once an important federal official testified before a Congressional committee that he had violated a law because he thought the objective was good. Later on he was promoted by Mr. Roosevelt to a higher post.

For years now political influence has been gnawing inside government. Many honest-minded officials who never profited a nickel themselves, and would not tolerate any illegal use of public money, have nevertheless dissoned personal favor out of which privileged citizens made money.

President Truman came into office with a long background of experience in a Kansas City political machine. He believed in the Jacksonian philosophy of party politics. He made no bones about it. So did Warren Harding, a Republican from 1920 to 1923. Now the day of reckoning has come. The political route has been exposed to be the route of corruption and malfeasance on the part of several of Mr. Truman's appointees.

Mr. Truman is not the kind of man who believes ill of his friends and political cronies. But his record in history is now the real issue. Can he prosecute as vigorously as the country demands? Will he let the chips fall where they may? Will he clean up his own administration and set up an example for all time?

Many of the wrongdoers in office, of course from a preceding Democratic administration. Mr. Truman owed them nothing and should have replaced them long ago. He will have to share the blame and responsibility now, however, for allowing them to occupy positions of public trust. But what has happened is less important than what is going to happen.

Will Mr. Truman take the steps necessary to turn the light of full publicity on the men who have been his lieutenants? Will he wipe the slate clean or just try by a few dramatic gestures to give the impression of a wronged or outraged executive?

The situation calls for a cleansing of the way through. It is inevitable whether Mr. Truman does it or not. And that's the ray of hope. When things get very bad in America, the very intensity of public disgust brings a reaction and a reform. That's the constructive result which will follow in the wake of some ruined reputations and perhaps disgraced careers and jail sentences. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

London—It is all very well to make peace with Japan and let her become a self-supporting military and political ally against the lawless aggression of those peace-loving democracies, Soviet Russia and China—

But the Japanese people must not be allowed to work harder than the union bosses of the British Socialist movement permit British workmen to work nor for less money because, in that case, the Japanese will steal away the British foreign markets for manufactured goods, such as pottery and printed cotton. In fact, they are stealing some of these markets now. For that reason, typical of the union mentality in all countries, the British Socialists would like to compel Japan to promise the United Nations to pay higher wages to its workers and limit its production.

The British and American unions are playing an incoherent part in the preparations to fight a war with Soviet Russia. The Bevan Socialists in the British Labor Party, which is actually the Socialist party, insist that it is not necessary to rebuild military strength and that it would be futile anyway. They say the Americans are forcing Britain to spend herself broke by excessive rearmament. They appear to believe that Soviet Russia could smash Britain in a very short war and that all Britain could get out of it would be defeat, ruin and the paltry satisfaction of having put up a suicidal preliminary defense of the United States. They are very close to our CIO and our Socialist front, ADA.

A writer named Hugh Jenkins, who uses the term "conquade" as a form of address, said in a recent issue of the official organ of the Bevan group that very few men and women in the "key points" of British industry could be persuaded to "join in the mockery of civil defense against the atom" because "if it comes we know we are in for it."

"We are in the valley of the shadow of death," Mr. Jenkins continued. "The Labor government tried to be pro-American and anti-Russian. Capitalism and Stalinism are twin enemies of Democracy. By attacking capitalism, the Labor government could have defeated both enemies."

Like the American unions, the British movement of labor, operated by a few pugnacious and defiant conspirators, exert themselves mainly to cheapen the money which their subjects receive for their work so that they can buy less with it and therefore constantly need more of it to live. But in achieving this effect, they also restrict the amount of work that their subjects may do. The Japanese admittedly are much better workers than the occidentals and they can live on less food and content themselves with habitations and discomforts which would provoke western workers to revolution.

Last winter, Charles E. Wilson, our manager of war production in Washington, made a brief stand against the inflationary demands of Philip Murray, James E. Carey and other professional parasites of the union racket. But he lost the decision even though it was then clearly shown that the only function of the unions was to cause trouble, run up the national expense and retard production. In that critical jam with Wilson, they frankly demanded inflationary raises for their subjects, who have never authorized them to make such demands, and the whole people of the United States had to pay them not to interfere with production for the current war in Korea and the war to come with Soviet Russia. President Truman then took the side of the union parasites in order that he could say with specious truth a few days ago that the people of the United States never were more fully employed nor ever had received such high wages. The explanation that neither he nor Roosevelt could achieve full employment except by taking the country to war was not mentioned in his speech.

The British government is now importing American coal and paying $12 a ton freight, or about $23 (Continued on Page 7, Col. 6)

So They Say...

In the ultimate factors of strength the U. S. is no doubt vastly more powerful than Russia. But on the present competition for Asia may depend which side eventually will be able to get the better of the other in this missionary warfare.

—Arnold Toynbee, British historian.

If the UN had not countered the Communist aggression in Korea, it would have been notice to all the world that the United Nations was a sham, that it was a mere debating society, and it would have ignominiously collapsed without further ado.

Tests Pay Off

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Nevada atomic tests, where the Atomic Energy Commission learned "very vital things," already have started paying off in better nuclear weapons. Chairman Gordon Dean, stepping carefully around direct answers to questions concerning new small A-bombs for tactical use on the battlefield, told a news conference yesterday that in the two series of tests conducted last February and again last month "we learned a lot of things about designs of weapons which we've already incorporated" in the weapons program. The AEC chairman was asked about public statement by Gen. J. Lawton Collins regarding the development of atomic artillery. Dean replied cautiously that Collins, who is army chief of staff, was "well aware of our program."

Manila, Dec. 11 (AP)—A typhoon howled into the China Sea today leaving 23 dead and tens of thousands homeless in the devastated central Philippines. The Philippines news service reported 200 were missing. The tropical cyclone ripped across Leyte, Cebu, Negros, Panay and neighboring islands Monday. Winds of 130 miles an hour blew away thousands of houses and thatched huts, drove ships ashore, uprooted trees, flooded rivers, washing away bridges and flooding sugar cane fields. Ninety per cent of the homes on the east coast of Leyte, where the typhoon first hit, were reported wiped out.

Big Slash for Germans

Bonn, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—West Germany is going to get its huge post-war financial aid from the West at less than half price, with a reduction of more than two billion dollars in the bill, the German government disclosed last night. The Germans owe $3,800,000,000. But Vice-chancellor Franz Bluecher told a news conference that American, British and French representatives agreed in London to ask repayment of only $1,600,000,000. "This is a major concession to us," Bluecher said, adding there was not much doubt the Bonn cabinet would accept the offer. Most of the bill—$3,200,000,000—is owed to the United States. From one trichinella worm, swallowed in a piece of uncooked pork, 10,000 young can be produced in a man's intestines.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

P-TA to Furnish Yule Decorations

Woodstock, Dec. 10—At the December meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the school, it was announced that as the organization's contribution to the Christmas festivities in this village, all materials needed for the decoration of the school will be provided by the P-TA. Serving on the committee in charge of decorating the school will be Mrs. Austin Meeklen, Mrs. Edna Quick, Mrs. Ruth Kelly and Mrs. Leo Herbert. A request has been made for donations of outdoor Christmas tree lights. The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades have contributed $10 towards lights for the outside of the school. For the front brick wall between the kindergarten and the main school, the Girl Scouts will make a special Christmas wreath. Since the films scheduled to be shown during the meeting did not arrive, a discussion period was held, with the recent innovation of the school not sending out report cards as the topic. Walter Van Wageningen, principal reported that the experiment on the whole was successful with 90 per cent of the parents requested for interviews attending to discuss their children's problems. The entire teaching staff was in accord that the program had been extremely instructive, as the teachers discovered facts about their pupils which they had not previously known. It was confidently believed that the final result of this first session was the satisfactory solution of many difficulties. Further appointments will be made with other parents in the near future. Van Wageningen also said that he had recently attended a meeting in Syracuse at which the "no report card" issue was the subject of discussion. He learned that schools in Schenectady have entirely done away with report cards. At the close of the discussion, conducted by Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, president, so much enthusiasm was expressed by members present that it was decided to set aside a 15 to 20 minute period at each of the monthly PTA meetings, at which time any school problem might be presented. During the meeting an appeal was made for suggestions concerning programs for the children's afternoon assemblies at the school. Introduced as a possibility was the proposal to invite as guest speakers those in the village "who make the community tick," each to explain his part in community life such as the postman, the town supervisor, the physician and pharmacist, and various merchants. On Friday, Dec. 14, the Kingston A Cappella Choir will sing at the school assembly at 2:30 p. m. Visitors are welcome to attend the program. Reports were submitted by Mrs. Edward Gurland, secretary, and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, treasurer. The PTA has at present a membership of 66. Anyone interested is invited to join the organization. Following the meeting community singing was led by Clementine Nessel, accompanying herself on the accordion.

Santa to Appear

Woodstock, Dec. 10—The Masonic Square Club of this village has received a message from Santa Claus that he will appear in person, as he has in the last two years, on the village green, Monday, Dec. 24, between 5 and 6 p. m. Santa wants it known that any child in the Woodstock township who is unable to attend the Christmas Eve celebration, either because of illness or other good reason, may request a personal call from the jolly old gentleman on Christmas Day. One of Santa's helpers will be on duty at one of his phones all day Dec. 24 to receive requests for his Christmas day visits. Calls for an appointment with Santa Claus may be made to Woodstock 2939.

Work of Tinker School Is Praised

Woodstock, Dec. 10—Miss Theo B. Reeve, of the New York State Education Department, Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education, was the guest Friday of the Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School. Along with Miss Myra Woodruff, of the same department who spoke last spring at a meeting of the school, Miss Reeve is particularly interested in the development of cooperative nursery schools. After spending the morning observing a session at the school, Miss Reeve was the guest of several mothers of children who attend the school, at luncheon at Deane's. She reported that she "was delighted with the way this school has turned out. The parents have shown a great amount of initiative, ingenuity and imagination in getting together the equipment at the school."

She pointed out that the important factor in the success of a nursery school was the teacher, and the relations she is able to work out with children and with the parents. "She is the key person in the group."

Speaking in particular of Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, teacher, who became associated with the Tinker Street School last September, Miss Reeve was particularly impressed with her infinite patience. "Mrs. Gilkey," she observed, "has an extremely nice and understanding way with the youngsters." During the latter part of the morning Miss Reeve inspected the well-equipped outdoor play-yard while the tots bounced happily about on the jungle gym, the slide and made play trains and busses out of the set of large wooden play boxes and boards. "Without question a lot of people have worked terrifically hard to get this school going," she said. "It shows it can be done if parents want educational experiences for children. This group has tried to find out what standards for nursery schools are, have endeavored to meet as many of them as possible, and are continuing to work towards fulfilling all of them."

Harder, 133-168-104, total 405; C. Nickponski 158-125-158, total 441; V. Busch 148-191-138, total 475. Game totals for Peper's were 794-841-640 with a grand total of 2275. Individual scores for the Bears-ville Cleaners were: Eichler 121-148, 185, total 454; Tackella 127-124-164, total 415; Featherston 115-130-141, total 386; Mollenhauer 123-144-146, total 413; C. Harder 133-140-117, total 390. Game totals plus handicaps were 645-710-777, with a grand total of 2132.

Peper's won two games out of three against Maines Oilers, with Peper's scoring 819-847-742 and Maines Oilers 722-808-819. Individual scores for Peper's were: J. Holdridge, Jr., 221-182-150; J. Holdridge, Sr., 142-161; A. Peper, 118; K. Harder 158-183-141; V. Busch 180-168-165; C. Nickponski 182-125; C. Harder 132. Individual scores for Maines were: W. Kimble 154-162-146; H. Maines 132-167-200; J. Maines 168-175-174; Blind 125-125-125; Blind 125-125-125; Blind 18-54-49. High single and high triple scores were J. Holdridge, Jr., with 221-533.

Brinkman Is Home On Rotation Plan From Korean War

Woodstock, Dec. 11—Cpl. Peter O. Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Brinkman, is the first of three brothers to arrive at his home here for the Christmas season. Peter who came from the "hottest" and most distant point, Korea, arrived this week on the rotation plan after a year overseas.

Assigned to the 79th Construction Engineers, of the 10th Corp., in the Eighth Army, Peter went in at the Chosin Reservoir last winter.

Their greatest fear, he reported, was the constant threat of guerrillas. No Koreans are ever allowed on or near the army trucks, as drivers or riders as all are suspects, even the children who have been known to drop hand grenades in the vehicles. One of the greatest things about being home again, Peter said, was the feeling of the absence of constant danger in a place where you don't have to keep looking behind you.

The men now stationed in Korea believe, according to Peter, that the rotation plan holds more hope for their return to this country than the true talks. They are, he said, very suspicious of the Chinese build-up which is occurring while the peace talks are in progress.

Since his return Cpl. Brinkman has met the first Korean veteran from Woodstock, Cpl. John Payne, of Shady, who arrived a few days ahead of Peter. They have been spending a considerable number of their hours of relaxation in an exchange of views on the Korean conflict. Cpl. Brinkman will report back to Fort Dix, N. J., after the first of the year.

Cage Squads Earn Split in Games

Woodstock, Dec. 11—Two basketball games, which were postponed from Friday night due to the Volunteer Firemen's dance, were played Saturday night at the Woodstock School. In the first game, the Woodstock Jayvets were beaten by the Kingston Rams by 36 to 44. Waterous has high score for Woodstock with 10 points and Joe Hilton was a close second with nine.

The Woodstock Varsity was victorious over the Kingston All Stars by 69 to 59. Scoring in baskets was about even—30 for Woodstock and 28 for Kingston—but Woodstock made nine out of 15 foul shots while the visitors only made three out of 12.

Billy Kleine was high scorer with 22 points and Billy Waterous second with 17 points. Kleine broke a four-year record by not committing any fouls and played practically throughout the whole game. Harder also was not responsible for any fouls and played his usual good game in getting rebounds off both boards.

Throughout the game the score was close and it wasn't until the last quarter that Woodstock opened up and got a 10-point lead. In the first quarter Woodstock only made seven out of 35 field goal attempts, but improved as the game went along for an evening's average of 33 per cent.

Two games will be played at the Woodstock School, Friday, Dec. 14, beginning at 7 p. m., teams to be announced.

Barzin Is Cited For Ballet Music

Woodstock, Dec. 11—Leon Barzin, who in addition to conducting for the National Orchestra Association, also is conductor for the New York City Ballet. Recently, Barzin received special comment for his contribution to the organization by John Martin, dance critic for the New York Times, who reported that he "is always in clear view and invariably greeted with hand-clapping. Yet the chances are that his contributions are still not fully recognized."

"The ballet is first of all a visual art," Martin wrote, "and we go to it primarily to look. Listening becomes a secondary operation and rightly so. As a rule we are aware of a ballet orchestra as such only when it plays badly, and then mainly because it causes the dancers to perform without complete confidence. Since Mr. Barzin and his colleagues rarely play badly, it follows that we are not often aware of them. We take them for granted, as we do fresh air and pure water and good light. Yet the dancers are at their mercy, for tempo, as well as for such intangibles as style and emotional honesty. One of the major reasons that the City Ballet dances better than others is that its orchestra plays better."

"But Barzin is still among the visible elements in the collaboration," Martin continued. He went on to applaud Jean Rosenthal, the technical director and Karinska, costume designer, who along with Barzin have contributed to a highly successful ballet season. "Obviously," he concluded, "these three names do not account for all the concealed strength in the organization, but perhaps the ends of justice will be served in part by bringing them momentarily into the light of day."

Two Boy Scouts Rotate Charge of Flag Pole

Woodstock, Dec. 11—The new flagpole, which was presented to the Woodstock School by William J. Eisner, is now standing on the grounds in front of the school with its flag waving each day. Two Boy Scouts, rotating each week, are in charge of the daily ceremonies of raising and lowering the flag.

Walter Van Wageningen, school principal has reported that the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades have sent a letter to Joseph Forno in appreciation of his part in obtaining the television set for the school.

The Parent-Teacher Association charter, recently received, is now hanging in the principal's office.

The art committee in charge of exhibitions of paintings at the school have recently rearranged the present group of pictures in different rooms of the school, according to Van Wageningen.

As Pegler Sees It

a ton, delivered, because the British coal miners under unionism, by their voluntary absenteeism, are falling far behind their potential convenient production. The Churchill government's first word to the people included a promise of less coal and lower temperatures. Normally, they keep the temperature of their homes and offices at about 60 in winter. Our average is 70. The voluntary absenteeism accounts for the deficit. It is excused on the ground that the miners need sunshine and relaxation, but that does not excuse their fierce opposition to the importation of Italian miners of whom it was said in an article in the Sunday Observer that "they have a sensational zeal for work."

"There are 50 of them at the briquet works in Cardiff," the story said, "all of them from Naples. They are on piece-rates and, in the first weeks, almost smashed the place up in their attempts to get more output than the machines are capable of giving."

Some of them try tricks so that they may work two shifts, and to anyone who understands their language they plead for at least two 16-hour days a week. But union rules and discipline have made it impossible for the government to give work to many thousands of poverty-stricken Italians who are eager to work with "sensational zeal" and only 300 out of 1,300 thus far imported have been allowed to become real miners in the pits. Incidentally, the 20 cents a ton rakeoff to the fabulous pension fund of the United Mine Workers of America which is firmly under the hand of John L. Lewis, is charged as part of the cost of production by the mine operators and discounted for income tax purposes. The Welsh and English coal miners are the most radical large political group in the union system. It has been explained that when the lay off they are "buying sunshine" and, further, that production in excess of the normal amount is penalized by higher income taxes.

Under socialism, unionized British labor has been told that restricted production and less work at higher wages are the formula for the more abundant life. Many of them obviously believe it. One harbor worker in London who refused to work overtime was laid off and a union controlling 4,500 of them threatened to refuse overtime entirely. About the same time a group of stevedores demanded higher pay to compensate the curtailment of man-hours which was about to be affected by the adoption of two new machines for unloading grain.

Meantime, British politicians and the newspapers complain that Japan and Germany, too, whose people are willing to work very hard, are stealing markets for high-priced British goods in their own empire. Of course, superior zeal is the prime cause of this deplorable situation, but these rivals would be important but for American dollars so Uncle Sam is at the bottom of the trouble as usual.

Government After $85 Million Due in Unpaid Revenue

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Internal revenue officials here say they are conducting a drive to collect more than $85,000,000 in unpaid income taxes and payroll and social security deductions.

The drive — reportedly under way for three weeks — was disclosed yesterday.

The disclosure followed a report by the Internal Revenue Bureau in Washington that about $632,363,000 in delinquent taxes is outstanding in the nation.

Monroe D. Dowling, collector for the third district, said yesterday at his mid-Manhattan office, that there will be an intensified crackdown to collect the estimated $85,000,000 from 38,500 New York city taxpayers.

Saying the crackdown would start today, Dowling declared: "These people have been given plenty of chances to pay. If they don't come across now, we'll slap liens on their bank accounts or other property."

Many of the delinquents here, Dowling said, are owners of night clubs or cabarets, sub-contractors or small war contractors.

Dowling said 25,000 warrants have been issued for income tax delinquents, 11,000 in payroll-deduction and social security cases and 1,500 in other categories.

Many of the tax delinquents were said to be employers who ran short of capital and used the collected withholding taxes in their businesses.

The warrants cover a period of about four years. Officials blamed the backlog on a shortage of help in the collection offices.

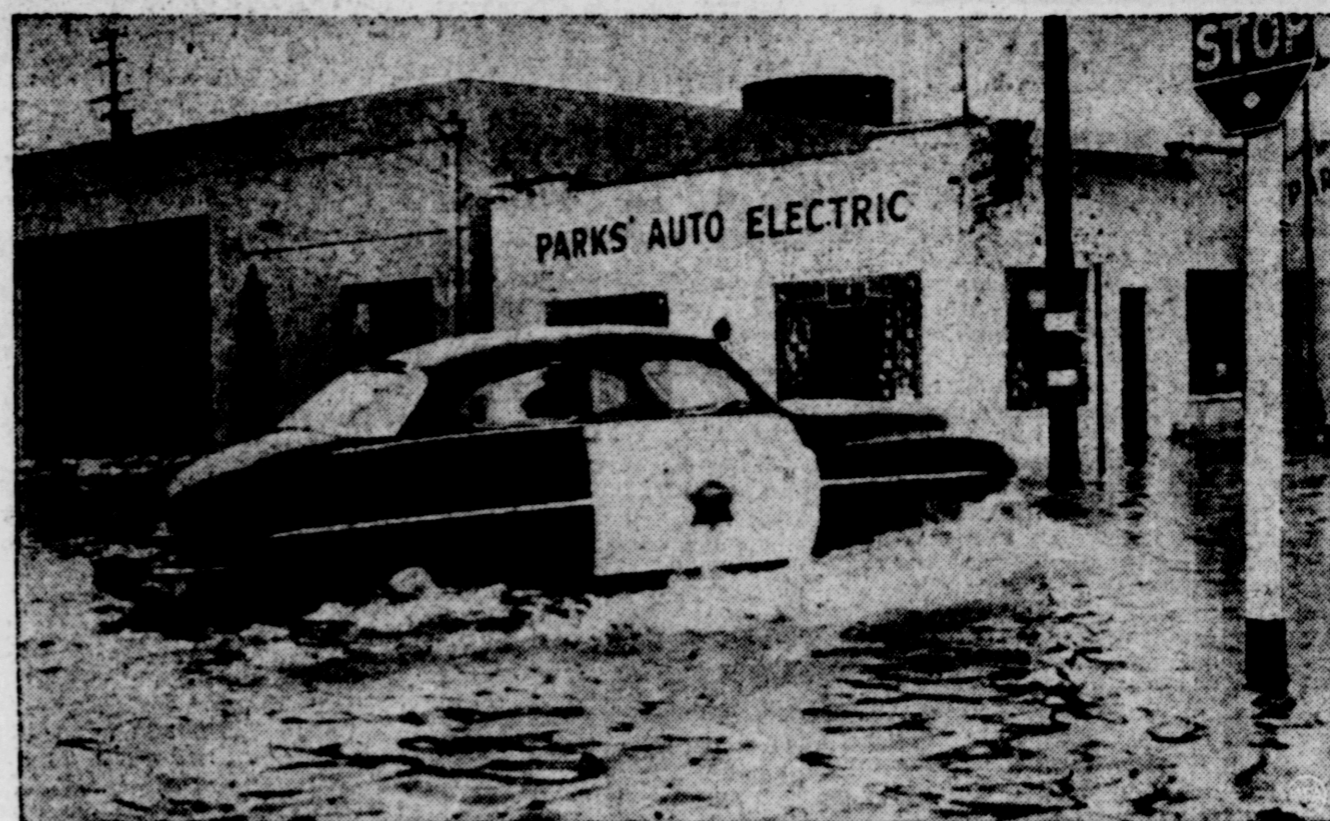

Predicts State Surplus

Albany, Dec. 11 (AP)—The state tax collections are running $8,108,749 higher than a year ago. Governor Dewey's budget chief predicted again yesterday a surplus for the 1951-52 fiscal year, but declined to speculate on whether it might mean an income tax reduction for 1952-53.

Budget Director Norman Hurd also was chary about forecasting the size of the surplus, which will be the state's first since 1949. "It's a little early to tell," said Hurd. He pointed out that deficiency appropriations could eat into the potential surplus by the end of the fiscal year, next March 31.

State Being Urged To Find Why Many Quit High Schools

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—The State Board of Regents was urged to make a survey to determine whether high school courses are adapted to meet the needs of both girls and boys.

The recommendation came from the Regents Council on high school adjustment, a committee of prominent civic leaders and educators trying to learn why so many students quit high school before graduating.

Mrs. James W. Kidney of Buffalo, council chairman, said fewer girls than boys drop out of high school, but that a survey should be undertaken to determine whether present courses make "adequate provisions for both sexes."

She said that about 45 per cent of the girls and 55 per cent of the boys quit high school before completing their courses.

Mrs. Kidney recommended expansion of a work-study program which permits students to earn while they learn by alternating weekly between school and a job. "We must convince parents," she added, "of the need for their children to complete a high school education. When a student drops out it's a loss to himself and a loss to society. Every child should have at least a high school education if our form of government is to continue."

No Opposition Made To 'Sugar' Wage Hikes

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Practically no opposition to proposals for higher wage levels and other benefits for about 15,000 confectionery workers in New York state was voiced yesterday at a public hearing.

The hearing was held by the State Industrial Commission on a state minimum wage board's recommendations.

A dozen persons representing labor and management in the confectionery industry attended. Another hearing on the recommendations will be held at the state office building in Buffalo Thursday. The recommendations then will go to State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi. He will give his approval or disapproval within 30 days.

The program provides for full-time employees to be paid a basic minimum wage of 75 cents an hour and a basic minimum weekly rate of $30 for 40 hours. The industry's present minimum wage order for full-time employees now provides a basic minimum of 57½ cents an hour and $23 a week for 40 hours.

The recommended new order calls for part-time employees to receive a basic minimum hourly rate of 80 cents. They now get 62½ cents.

Gambling debts first were made irrecoverable by law during the reign of England's King Charles II.

Held for Homicide In Father's Death

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—A young married woman, defending a 17-year-old sister, stabbed her father to death in a quarrel in their Brooklyn home last night, police said.

The victim was Daniel Gallagher, 62, formerly a patient in a mental institution.

Police gave this version of the killing:

Gallagher threatened his daughter, Rose, with a breadknife. The other daughter, Mrs. Dolores Pepe, 20-year-old wife of a marine in Korea, snatched the knife from her father. He chased her and was stabbed in the neck in a struggle.

Gallagher died within a few minutes. Mrs. Pepe was booked by police on a homicide charge.

The victim's wife, Rose, 48, a ferryboat matron, was at work at the time. A son, Daniel, 14, was in an upper part of the house.

Queer Requests

A New York man owning 71 pairs of trousers died in 1880 and his will instructed its executor to auction off the trousers without their being examined, and only one pair to a person. His wishes were carried out and the purchaser of each pair of trousers found $1,000 sewn in a cuff.

Jesuits Plan Seminary In Peekskill Vicinity

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Society of Jesus, known as the Jesuit order, plans to build a major house of studies, a $5,000,000 seminary at Shrub Oak near Peekskill.

The announcement came last night from the Very Rev. John J. McMahon, S.J., provincial for the New York Province of the order. In disclosing the plans at a dinner here, Father McMahon said funds for the construction would be sought in a public appeal.

The appeals for the new house, to be named Loyola Seminary, would be on a province-wide basis, Father McMahon said. The province includes all of New York state and the northern part of New Jersey.

The provincial said the new seminary would include facilities for training 300 Jesuits.

Trucking Firm Is Fined $4,740 for Violations

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh fined a North Carolina trucking firm $4,740 in traffic court yesterday for failing to answer 467 traffic violation summonses given to the firm's 101 trucks in the city since last June.

The fine, largest of its kind ever imposed, was meted out to Harris Express, Inc., a trucking firm of Charlotte, N. C., which wholly owns the 497 Trucking Company, of 497 West street.

The chief magistrate gave the company until 4 p. m. Wednesday to pay the fine, and asserted he would report its record of non-compliance to the State Department of Taxation and the State Motor Vehicle Bureau.

"My only regret is that I can't impose a jail sentence because a corporation is involved and I can't fix individual guilt," Chief Magistrate Murtagh said.

THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

It was Christmas Eve, 1818, in the little village of Oberndorf, high up in the Austrian Alps.

The young parish priest, Joseph Mohr, was discussing preparations for the Christmas celebration. Father Mohr had given much thought to the composing of a beautiful Christmas song.

But in the church nearby, where Franz Gruber, the organist, was practicing, a calamity occurred. The organ broke down!

Teach Pretty Daughters How to Handle Flattery

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

It's been two years since we saw our old friends, the Watsons, and when they drop in unexpectedly one evening, our 16-year-old Mimsy rushes out to the kitchen to rustle up coffee and sandwiches.

As she passes his cup to Jim Watson, he leans back in his chair and whistles. "Great Scott," says Jim Watson, "but you're a pretty thing to look at. What's the matter with those Hollywood beauty collectors that they haven't been around here?"

It's not Mimsy's first compliment. For some time now she has been on the receiving end of recognition and approval of attributes which are not the result of personal effort, but of glandular readjustments.

Within recent weeks, we have been treated to newspaper accounts of the amatory complications involving a beautiful Hollywood blonde and two suitors, her marriage, and—seven weeks later—separation.

With due respect to the lady's physical voltage, I want to remind parents of pretty daughters that the complications arose, not because of the charmer's beauty, but because she did not know her own mind, could not make a decision or stick with it. It is an inability that does not promise her much happiness.

It is a proud and pleasant thing to watch physical loveliness unfurl in the child we love. While we take pride and pleasure in the shining hair, the fresh white of the eyeball, the quality of skin texture, let's not forget that these physical items are mere reinforcements to her self-esteem.

Our pretty child's real self-esteem is intimately geared to an identity that is quite invisible to the masculine eyes which turn to watch her walk along the street.

Once I knew a beautiful woman, so beautiful that she could not enter a restaurant without commanding instant attention—admiration so strong that it was an actual and tangible force.

She was not a happy woman. Instead of accepting her beauty with joy and gratitude, she hated it as an enemy that had betrayed her into circumstances she fiercely resented. She hated the mother who had conspired with beauty so that it controlled her daughter's life.

HOW ABOUT THE INWARD SELF?

Mimsy needs special and loving help in learning how to think about flattery of her external self. If she does not get it, she may become so intoxicated with the power of an outward gaze to command admiration that the real Mimsy gives up and says, "I'm not important for myself."

Since it's the inward Mimsy who will have to earn respect for the pretty, exterior girl, this is bad thinking for Mimsy. It is dangerous for her to lose interest in her real self, or to become estranged from it by her sudden experience of her outward power.

Dr. Erich Fromm writes: "People who are concerned with the question of whether they are attractive or not forget that the essence of attractiveness is the capacity to love."

Mimsy's skin texture will not influence future joy in her womanhood nearly so much as her capacity to love.

The extravagant admiration we Americans lavish on youthful female beauty is a very serious problem to parents. Regardless of the advertisements, physical beauty does not keep homes together.

Our pretty daughters should be given far more thorough briefing on what to do with flattery, so that they can rejoice in it a little more impersonally. Otherwise, they may become so dependent on admiration for the shining hair and graceful body that they lose interest in the real self that animates the body.

This will be unfortunate for the future, as knowledge and respect for their real and inward selves will determine their capacity to know and respect the real selves of others.

West's opening bid of three hearts in today's hand was very risky. He could expect to win only six tricks in his own hand, so might be set three tricks vulnerable. His honors furnished some sort of "cushion" against a bad penalty, however, and the solidity of his suit made it unlikely that the enemy could muster up a penalty double.

South was stuck for a good bid, when his turn came up. He was reluctant to double, since he was not ready for a diamond response. He could hardly afford to jump to four spades in view of the weakness of that suit. He had to make the decided underbid of three spades in the hope that his partner would take action with any doubtful hand.

As it happened, North had such magnificent support for spades that he could afford to make a mild slam, try by cue-bidding hearts. This could not be greatly misunderstood, since North had been unable to bid directly over three hearts.

South needed no further encouragement to bid six spades. He might have bid it immediately over the cue-bid of three hearts, but bid five clubs first in the hope that a grand slam might be reached if North had all the key cards.

West opened the king of hearts, and dummy ruffed. Declarer entered his hand with a trump, ruffed another low heart in dummy, and drew a second round of trumps with dummy's queen. He then led a low club from dummy.

The key play came at this trick. Declarer could well afford to give up one club trick, but could not afford to lose two. South made the correct decision by playing the ace of clubs on the first round of that suit. Since this dropped West's singleton king, the rest was easy.

If South had made the mistake of finessing the queen of clubs, West would have won with the king, and East would have won a second club trick later on. South's safety play of cashing the ace of clubs was executed to guard against exactly this danger.

If only small clubs had dropped on the ace, South would have returned to dummy with a diamond to lead another club towards his queen. This would limit the loss in clubs to one trick unless West had three to the king-jack—in which case the slam was unmakeable by any line of play.

Canadian Wave Lowers Border Temperatures

(By The Associated Press)

A new surge of cold Canadian air moved into the Midwest today sending temperatures below zero in some of the northern border states.

Light snow fell in much of the cold belt, extending from the eastern Dakotas eastward to Michigan. It was below zero in some parts of North Dakota. Near zero was forecast for northern Minnesota tonight.

Cold weather continued in parts of the western states but temperatures were near or a little above normal over other areas. Warmer weather was in prospect for most of the southwest and south central states.

Rain fell in a narrow belt from east-central Mississippi to western South Carolina early today. Generally fair weather was reported in other areas outside the snow belt in the Midwest.

IT'S UP TO YOUR SON

A very difficult situation is described in the following letter: "My son and daughter-in-law are living with my husband and myself because they are unable to find a place of their own. We have a big house and are only too glad to share it with them. However, my daughter-in-law doesn't lift a finger to help with the housework, and expects to be waited on. We have no maid and I do all my own work. How can I tell her that I expect her to help with the housework without causing ill feelings?" I'm afraid it would be a mistake for you to say anything to her. But your son could call his wife's attention to the fact that the work is very hard for you alone and suggest that she give you some help.

Entirely Proper

Dear Mrs. Post: I am eighteen years old and have been going with a young man twenty for the past seven months. We have been invited to spend the week-end with mutual friends of ours (married couple) who live in another state. My parents strenuously object to my going, saying that it is not proper for us to stay in the same house together. Will you please settle this feud? If you say it's all right, I'm sure they will change their minds about letting me go.

Answer:

Most certainly would agree with your parents if you were going to stay in the house of a bachelor. But I do not think anyone would consider it improper for a man and girl to stay with friends who are married.

Bridegroom's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to be married soon at a morning wedding. My fiancé is not very tall and refuses to wear a cutaway coat as it is not very becoming to him. What can he wear instead? I am going to wear a white satin dress with a train and a long veil. Could he possibly wear a tuxedo?

Answer: A tuxedo before six o'clock in the evening is impossible. But a short black sack coat with gray striped trousers is an entirely acceptable substitute for a cutaway.

What is the obligation of the godparent to the new baby? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-36, "The New Baby," answers this and other questions about the christening. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Decision Reserved

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has reserved decision on a motion to set aside an injunction banning a strike against the bankrupt Third Avenue Transit Corp. The injunction was issued by U. S. District Judge Samuel H. Kaufman Nov. 31 at a time when the CIO Transport Workers Union was threatening a strike against the city's nine private bus systems. Asher W. Schwartz, union counsel, told the Appeals Court yesterday that the injunction violated the Norris-LaGuardia Act concerning injunctions.

Wise Ways on Gifts for Gals

These Christmas gifts for her look glamorous, are practical from a woman's point of view. Robe (left) is budget-priced bemberg quilted crepe. Tiny evening purse (upper center) in bemberg brocade has own matching compact and lipstick and a small price. Maltese cross (upper center) is studded with colorful cabochons, is worn at the hipline. Necklace and bracelet (lower center) are in Far-Eastern mood of design. Black velvet lounging pajamas (upper right) have pink brocade coolie coat. Unique timepiece (lower right) folds like an envelope, can be used as watch for night-table. Every gift here will be useful long after the holidays.

By GAIL DUGAS

Even during the Christmas season, there are rules about shopping. But it's the women who know them, not the men.

Men are abashed about shopping for women. They take the first large, economy size bottle of French perfume or the first black lace lingerie the salesgirl shows at them. They know there must be something around in the stores that women like. But what, they can't imagine.

They need help. They need to know how to pick things that women won't exchange on Dec. 26 and they need to consider their wallets when they shop.

Costume jewelry is a good place to start. A handsome Maltese cross, for instance, looks expensive pinned at the hipline of a suit. But it costs little.

The same thing can be said for necklace, earrings and bracelet in twisted gold, tipped with Oriental spikes. And it holds true for a watch that flips shut like an envelope, slips readily into a handbag. It can double as a watch on a bedside table because it can stand upright.

Brunch coats and lounging pajamas are popular as Christmas gifts and with good reason. They're priced as reasonably as you like and they're the kind of gift any woman loves but hesitates to buy for herself.

Lounging pajamas in black velvet bemberg topped by a pink brocade coolie coat with tremendous sleeves are pretty and inexpensive. Mandarin collar, sleeves and jacket bottom are edged in velvet.

A brunch coat would look equally nice in a big white box under the tree on Christmas morning. Pick one that's washable, in a pale yellow quilted bemberg crepe.

Lovely at breakfast on Christmas Day and for many days thereafter.

One of the many small gifts that looks luxurious and is priced for pennies is a tiny evening purse in rich pastel bemberg brocade. It comes equipped with matching compact and lipstick.

The French purse in metallic bemberg brocade is a wonderful and deceptive gift; deceptive because it looks so trim and flat and actually holds so much. Inexpensive, too, though it has a cost-look.

These are just starters. There are also checkbook covers in twisted gold yarns or in velvet studded with rhinestone crowns. There are glasses and comb cases in beaded velvets. Or satin belts alight with iridescent bugle beads.

Welcomes Investigation

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Martin T. Lacey, ranking AFL leader in New York city, says he welcomes official investigation of waterfront conditions but says the probing should not involve interference with the internal affairs of unions. "I don't think there's any corruption on the waterfront," Lacey declared yesterday at a news conference. I think maybe there are too many men on the waterfront, and too many men in the union." He referred to the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), thousands of whose members recently tied up the port of New York by a wildcat strike.

Dulles' Cousin Hurt

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 11 (AP)—William W. Dulles, Jr., a cousin of State Department Adviser John Foster Dulles, was in Jersey City Medical Center today after being injured in a four-car pile-up on the Pulaski Skyway. Hospital officials said Dulles, 28, of 4920 Arlington avenue, Riverdale, N. Y., suffered a deep cut on the forehead and chest injuries in the accident which occurred yesterday. His condition was reported as good. Police said the mishap was caused by a car which made a sudden stop. The car driven by Dulles was the third in line involved in the pileup.

In Vienna in 1842, the Emperor conferred on him the titles of court composer and master of the Imperial Chapel. German Social Worker Studies Activities Of UC Youth as Part of Exchange Project

Miss Friedel Anzender, young social case worker from Erlangen, in Bavaria, Germany, is spending three weeks in Ulster county as a part of her study of youth activities in this country.

Miss Anzender's trip to this country was made possible through the International Exchange Project of the National Social Welfare Assembly, Inc., Youth Division's education and recreation subdivision.

Her work in this county is sponsored by the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York. Catholic Charities, accepting the sponsorship of Miss Anzender for a three week period, assigned her to Ulster county, where she is working under the guidance of Miss Clare M. Kelley.

To Visit Sections

While here, she is studying various agencies at work in the county, including the Catholic Youth Organization, the Y.W.C.A., County Health Department, Girl Scouts, Home Bureau, the Children's Home and others as well as the Catholic Charities.

Her work in this country will cover a three month period in various locations. She arrived here Oct. 10, and after spending an indoctrination week in Washington, D. C., she was assigned to New York city for a week and to Hartford, Conn., for four weeks prior to coming here.

Compares Youth Work

Miss Anzender, a native of Erlangen, graduated from the Nuremberg School of Social Work, and spent two months in social case work for a public agency in Nuremberg before coming to this country. She was one of a group of 20 German persons who flew to this country to study various professions, all under sponsorship of the Youth Division.

Several differences in youth work and social case work have impressed Miss Anzender in her studies so far in this country.

The case worker in America, she explains, is much more a specialist than her counterpart in Germany.

In that country, one family stays with one case worker almost exclusively. The case worker is called upon to make the reports on which welfare work is based, to assist new mothers in learning care of babies, to make probationary reports in case of juvenile delinquency, and even to help in the care of aged members of the family.

In this country, Miss Anzender has noticed, the welfare department has its own case workers, public health nurses teach the care of newborn babies, the courts have their own probation officers, and many private agencies employ social workers in specialized fields.

Primarily interested in youth, Miss Anzender also reports that her American colleagues must deal much more with adults. The CWO, for instance, in this country has many adults who are interested in assisting the youth in providing for and planning programs, whereas in Germany the parish priest is usually the only adult advisor in any group. The children then plan their own programs, she said.

Finds Loss of Interest

It has been Miss Anzender's impression that in this country most young people seem to be very active in youth programs up to the age of 17, then they tend to lose interest. In Germany, she reports, girls between 20 and 25 years of age retain active interest in youth groups.

Studies Youth Here

FRIEDEL ANZENDER

Here there are more private, volunteer agencies in the field, whereas in Germany most of the agencies are public. She stressed, however, that many organizations, like the CYO and the YMCA, have grown in strength rapidly since World War 2. During the war, those agencies were forbidden and all youths were required to join the Hitler Youth Movement, she said. Some units did continue to operate secretly and on a small scale during the war, however, she pointed out.

Today in Germany membership in any of the youth groups, public or private, is strictly voluntary, Miss Anzender pointed out.

Facilities Superior
Other impressions reported by her included amazement at the speed with which things are accomplished in this country. Used to waiting at least a half-hour to place a long distance telephone call from Nuremberg to Munich, Miss Anzender was surprised to find Miss Kelley making several calls to offices in other cities and being able to complete a business matter within that time limit.

In Germany, Miss Anzender said, social workers use bicycles or walk when making their calls, but here almost every social worker seems to have an automobile. Facilities, of course, are much superior here to those in Germany, she added.

Asked about her first impressions of New York city, Miss Anzender echoed a statement which—though she didn't know it—has been repeated many times over by upstate residents: "I think it is nice to visit for one week or two weeks, but not to live in."

Hospitality Shown

Miss Anzender's arrival in New York was marked by a memorable example of hospitality.

Back in 1945, she explained, an American actress Sybil Bowan, was in Germany as a part of an entertainment troupe doing shows for U. S. soldiers. She stayed two or three miles from the Anzender home in Erlangen, and became acquainted with the family. When she left to return to this country, she struck up a correspondence with the Anzenders.

Miss Anzender wrote Miss Bowan that she was coming to this country, and when she arrived the actress contacted her and helped make her visit in New York enjoyable. Both young women are devout Catholics.

Miss Bowan is now in Kansas City appearing in the play, "Roberta," but the two friends are planning to spend Christmas together.

While in Kingston, Miss Anzender is staying at the Kirkland Hotel. Max Bruggmann, proprietor, who speaks German fluently, has been of great assistance to her, Miss Kelley reported.

Plans for Tercentennial Discussed At DAR Christmas Meeting and Tea

Plans for entertaining the Hudson Valley Council of the Daughters of the American Revolution June 5, 1952, were discussed at the Christmas meeting and tea held at the DAR Wiltwyck chapter house Thursday, Dec. 6. Mrs. Adam H. Porter, regent, presided. The Rev. C. H. Snell was the guest speaker on this occasion and was introduced by Mrs. Clair Sheaffer.

"Even though the Christmas message is old and familiar there is always something new and inspirational to be found in the Bible. Hope was born on Christmas Eve in a little stall in Bethlehem, freedom of a race began, and history was made," said the Rev. Dr. Snell, and concluded "the miracle of grace is always the miracle of response."

The members received a special invitation to attend the naturalization court where 65 members will become American citizens, and were told that the chapter would be represented and extend a hand of welcome to the new Americans. An American flag will also be given each one.

It was announced by Mrs. Porter that Miss Barbara Hutton has been chosen as the good citizenship pilgrim. She was chosen, not only for her ability to write, but also for many other outstanding qualities, said Mrs. Porter. Miss Hutton will be guest of honor Feb. 22.

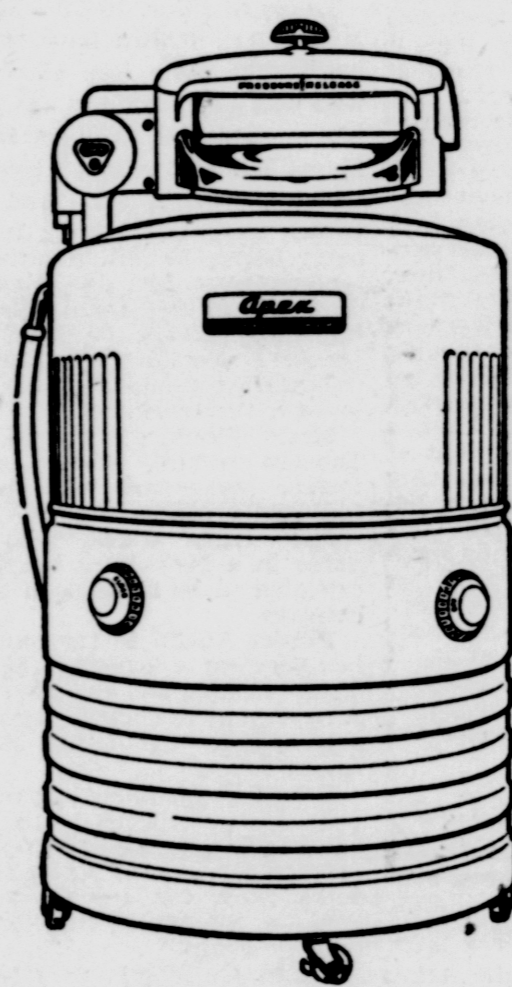

Those present were most appreciative of the lovely tea party and congratulated the hostesses, Mrs. William A. Frey, Mrs. A. R. Newcombe and Mrs. Henry Sniffer.

Do You Remember
BY SOPHIE MILLER

It is interesting to read the wants of Kingstonians a quarter of a century ago. Quoting from the Promotive Survey of Kingston, dated March 1923 as loaned to me by Mr. Boyle. It seems a questionnaire was mailed to the members of the Chamber of Commerce with the request that each one note his opinion of the outstanding need for Kingston. Twenty-six had asked for a new hotel, 25 for additional houses and apartments, 22 for better transportation, 13 had asked for better market for produce of farmers, 10 wanted a public auditorium, 10 thought increased or improved theatres would improve the city, nine wanted band concerts, eight asked for more playgrounds, six mentioned added facilities for vocational schools, five thoughts of more support for the library, etc. Incidentally, the Governor Clinton opened its doors, three years later, May 20, 1926.

Here are some remarks as taken from the 1923 book by local residents. "Certainly need a new and up-to-date hotel that will have facilities to cater to summer trade," said R. S. Harder. Well his wish came true. George V. D. Hutton said at the time, pertaining to this question: "Either modernize another of the hotels or construct a new moderate-priced house of type that could be operated in winter without a prohibitive loss. Do not believe summer resort style practical." Roy M. Sutliff also added: "Better hotel facilities." Mark O'Meara mentioned, "Kingston, in my opinion, needs a fine hotel." Charles N. Behrens said, "Hotel, such as proposed 'Van Winkle'." William Dugan asked for "A good high class hotel." A. D. Rose came out with "More hotel accommodations especially in summer season." L. Brown too added, "We do need a good sized hotel—1st class."

It seems only a short time ago that tea came in gauze tea bags and could be used over and over again. In fact, I read about how it was first invented by a salesman's wife. Since then the modern world has tried to improve the 'tea bag' to such a degree that now it is so flimsy that it falls apart by the mere touch of hot water pouring over it. Just the other day, one of the readers of this column was discussing it with me. And said, "why don't you say something about the gauze tea bags when they first came out and could be used several times and still held together, and the tea bags of today which fall right apart and the powdery tea goes into the water spoiling your cup of tea." Being I like tea now and then, I was in accord with her feelings. I like to use a tea bag for at least two cups of tea. I like the old tea bag very much and dislike the modern paper one very much. I think, this time, progress and scientific modern ideas just went a step too far and ruined the good old 'tea bag.' I would be very glad to hear from my other readers on it. It is one of my pet peeves of today. To me, there is nothing so pleasant as a nice cup of old-fashioned tea.

Now They'll Know Costs
New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—To make officers and GI's cost-conscious, the army is putting price tags on its equipment. The price tags, says Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, are a "dramatic way of getting across to the soldier not only how important his job is, but how important it is that he use his equipment wisely and well." As for officers, Pace adds, they also find it worthwhile to become economy-minded because it may mean a promotion.

Later the tentative offer was withdrawn without the Allies saying how they felt about it. The Red concessions rekindled hopes of a possible truce by Christmas.

Charge Strafing

The Reds complained that a UN plane bombed and strafed the security area surrounding their Kaesong headquarters. But it appeared the incident would be smoothed over. Neither side seemed desirous of making it a major incident.

There has been no official word on how many prisoners the Reds hold. But Lt. Col. Howard M. Levie, UN spokesman, said Communist broadcasts reported 139,000 UN and South Korean troops were held by the Reds.

"Roughly I'd say we hold 100,000 North Koreans and between 15,000 and 20,000 Chinese," Levie said.

He estimated that the Communists have 70,000 to 85,000 South Korean prisoners, and 12,000 to 14,000 UN prisoners. Of the UN group he estimated 1,000 to 1,500 were British, 1,000 were from other countries and the remainder were Americans.

His figures on possible American prisoners don't coincide with a recent UN atrocity report.

Col. James M. Hanley of the U. S. Eighth Army said recently the Reds have killed about 5,600 Americans after taking them prisoner. Fewer than 11,000 Americans have been reported missing in action, so Hanley's figures would leave only about 5,000 Americans as potential prisoners.

House Wings Sold

Attorney Milo Claude Moseman, of Tannersville, announced recently that he had sold two wings of the Catskill Mountain House above Palenville, to William Woodward of Hudson.

Provisions of the transaction between Moseman and Woodward call for razing of the north wing first. This wing is to be removed by next June and the south wing and whatever other parts are to be razed must be moved within two years.

Attorney Moseman said he hopes to remodel the main structure and develop the surrounding grounds as a park. If the place could be developed both as a park and museum, he said, his dreams would be realized.

Troop 8 Members Receive Awards at St. John's Church

Two members of Boy Scout Troop 8—Robert T. Shellenberger, Jr., and Edwin T. Strong, Jr.—received the God and Country award during impressive ceremonies Sunday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The awards were made by the pastor of the parish, the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, who spoke briefly of the significance of the award and the requirements needed to receive the honor.

The God and Country award is given to Boy Scouts on fulfillment of standards established by the national committee on scouting. The requirements include a minimum of 150 hours of service given to the church, knowing something of the history of the church, the work among young people, missionary work, the principal doctrines, significance of sacraments and the names of the Books of the Bible.

The scout, who also must be a first class scout, must also attend the Sunday school and make use of the scripture and prayer in his daily life.

Young Strong entered Troop 8 in February, 1949, and is a star scout rank holding 14 merit badges. He also is the troop librarian.

Young Shellenberger entered Troop 8 May, 1949, and also is of the star scout rank with six merit badges. He is patrol leader of the Panther Patrol.

The youths broke away from Officer Janasiewicz as he was calling for a police car to take them to headquarters. The melodramatic sequence in and around the hotel followed.

Coach Kias's 1951-52 edition of the Maroon proved a pleasant surprise in stopping the Poughkeepsie Blues, 62-55, in a four-sided contest last Friday in Poughkeepsie.

But the big powerhouse of the league still remains the two-time champions of Newburgh Free Academy, who rolled over Middletown, 66-32.

Monticello succumbed to Liberty High and Wayne Mauer, 53-42, on its home boards. Mauer, All-DUSO center, hit for 18 points. The Monties are a seasoned aggregation that figures to give Kingston's new found spirit a real test.

The Poughkeepsie opener proved that Kingston's current squad could score under depressing conditions against an old nemesis. Leroy Hooker, who was expected to have a big season, heartened Maroon followers with a 26-point splurge before he fouled out.

Stout Bench
 Coach Kias had an opportunity to test his "bench" earlier than he expected and the results were gratifying. With five regulars banished because of fouls, the Maroon second stringers made a notable contribution to the Kingston victory. Harry LaForge hit for

Cousy, Macauley Top NBA Scorers

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Led by Bob Cousy and Ed Macauley, the Boston Celtics are traveling at a record scoring pace in the National Basketball Association this year.

In 16 games to date, the Eastern division leaders have averaged 91.6 points. The all-time record is 87.3, set by the Anderson Packers two years ago. Syracuse led league scoring last year with an average of 86.1.

Cousy, pressing Minneapolis' matchless George Mikan and Philadelphia's Paul Arizin for the individual scoring lead, has a total of 348 points, an average of 21.8 a game.

Macauley, the former St. Louis star, is averaging 18.6.

Mikan continues to lead the individual players with 422 points in 17 games, giving him a 24.8 average. Arizin is averaging 22.3.

Dick McGuire of the New York Knickerbockers has the best field goal percentage with 55 goals in 118 attempts for a 46.6 average.

Kentucky First In Basketball Poll

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats today walked off with top honors in the first Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

The Wildcats, NCAA champions, were named No. 1 in the land by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters. They received 41 of the 102 first-place votes to easily outdistance St. John's University of Brooklyn, which finished second.

Kentucky piled up 1,021 points—the only team to go over the magic 1,000-point figure—while St. John's had 840 points and 17 top ballots.

Next Monday night these two hardwood powers collide at Lexington, Ky., in what may be the "game-of-the-year."

The rest of the top ten teams were, in order: Illinois, St. Louis, Kansas State, Washington, Seton Hall, Kansas, LaSalle and North Carolina State.

The St. Louis Cardinals completed a deal with the New York Giants for Second Baseman Eddie Stanky (left) in exchange for Max Lanier (center), veteran lefthander, and Outfielder Chuck Diering (right). The peppery little infielder is expected to sign Dec. 11 as the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The 31-year old reinsman won $333,136.25 and 118 races, high for both fields. Final figures were announced today by the United States Trotting Association, which is meeting in annual session.

Simpson, general manager of Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., set a new single-season record for earnings, surpassing the record $306,000 set last year by Delvin Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa.

Phils and Cincinnati Pull 7-Player Deal

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Eddie Stanky is due to sign a two-year contract as player-manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today and Joe DiMaggio will announce his future plans.

The Stanky and DiMaggio developments probably will overshadow the seven-player deal completed last night between the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phils.

In the only official swap of the winter meetings, Cincinnati sent pitcher Howie Fox (9-14), second baseman Connie Ryan (234) and catcher Forrest Burgess (257) to Phils for outfielder Andy Seminick (233), outfielder Dick Sisler (287), pitcher Niles Jordan (2-3) and infielder Eddie Pellagrini (234).

Stanky's switch to St. Louis for pitcher Max Lanier (11-9) and outfielder Chuck Diering (259) hinges on an agreement between the peppery little second baseman and Fred Saigh, Card owner. That is a foregone conclusion.

Saigh and Stanky talked on the telephone last night and will compromise on a two-year contract at $37,500 when Eddie flies into St. Louis today to meet his new boss.

Lanier Involved

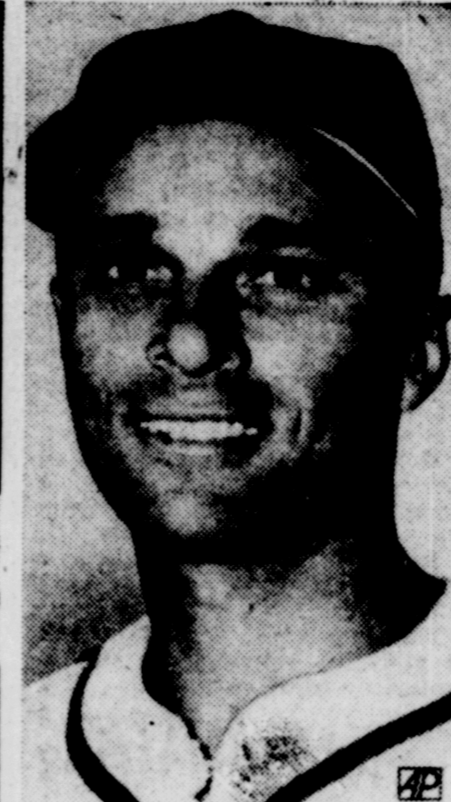

Although the Giants and Cards didn't announce the players involved in the Stanky deal, it was learned Lanier and Diering are the men. There was a slight complication last night when Lanier said his St. Petersburg restaurant business might keep him out of baseball next year.

Lanier, 36-year-old veteran lefty, would bolster the Giant staff and Diering, a good-field, no-hit center fielder, would provide center field insurance in case Willie Mays is drafted.

Stanky, who played 145 games last year and hit .247 for the pennant-winning Giants, expects to play second base for his Cards. In that case, Red Schoendienst might be shifted to first base. As Giant leadoff man, Eddie walked 127 times last season and hit 14 homers.

The DiMaggio announcement will settle the future of the 37-year-old star with the $100,000 salary. Joe told reporters after the world series that he had played his last game, but held off positive retirement at the request of the Yanks owners.

Since Dizzy Dean left the Yanks to take another job, the television job is open. There are strong reports DiMaggio will man the TV-mike at Yankee Stadium for the next three years at $50,000 per.

Siena to Play Service Five

Siena switches from a collegiate opponent to one of former collegians when the Indians oppose Fort Monmouth's star-studded array tonight at 9 at the Albany Armory.

The Indians, who have a 3-2 record against college talent, have been hot and cold since the start of the 1951-52 campaign, but will have to remain warm to do any damage against the stiff competition in front of them.

After the Army quintet, five tough college combines step off at the Armory, Baldwin Wallace, Saturday, and then Loyola of New Orleans, Colgate, Lafayette, and Arizona State, before the first of the year.

Siena Coach Dan Cunha may offer several surprise starters tonight in an effort to powerize his club. Siena lost its last outing, 49-48, to Loyola of Baltimore through the inability to hold a one point command in the last two minutes.

In any event, Cunha will probably choose a starting array from among Captain Billy Harrell, Bill Hogan, Tom Pottenburgh, Dick Terlingen, Dick Rapacy, Glenn Bissell or George Fox.

Fort Monmouth, coached by George "Mule" Maas, former Philadelphia Athletic star outfielder, is led by Jim Edwards, 6-4 center, who starred for four seasons at the University of Louisville. Edwards is averaging close to 15 points per game.

Other ex-collegians with the Sinalleors are Bill Henrich, 6-4 shotmaker, from Philly, who played with LaSalle's 1950 club which gained an NIT bid; Dick Havorsen, 6-2, Lock Haven; Emil Kormas, 5-10, Ohio U.; Murray Muston, 6-3, Texas U.; Bob Forster, 6-4, San Jose, and Arnold J. Malloy, former AAU performer who led the team in scoring two years ago.

Siena's Jayvees will play the 7 p. m. preliminary.

Lapchick Offers to Quit

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Joe Lapchick offered to resign yesterday as coach of the New York Knickerbockers, who have won only seven of 18 games in the National Basketball Association. The onetime Celtic star suggested to club owner Ned Irish that he might want to get another coach. Irish refused the offer, giving Lapchick a vote of confidence.

AZA Quintet Captures Section Title in Poughkeepsie, 53-50

Trip Bridge City Two Straight

Kingston AZA basketball team made it two straight over the Poughkeepsie Chapter, 53-50, to wrap up the Section 1 title in a torrid battle Saturday night on the Bridge City court.

The Kingstonians will next appear in the state tournament in Buffalo in February.

Except for a few moments late in the third period, Coach Eddie Bahl's cagers were ahead all the way in a contest replete with rhu-bards between players and officials.

Don Greenberg again displayed brilliant form for the locals, racking up 24 markers. His brother, Robbie, accounted for 14 to make it quite a night for the Greenbergs.

Kingston led 25-24 at halftime after a 14-14 first period deadlock. Poughkeepsie pulled ahead 33-28 near the end of the third period, but the Kingston cagers rallied to go ahead 35-34 at the three-quarter mark.

With the Greenbergs furnishing a steady flow of baskets, Kingston twice opened up six-point margins, 46-40, and 48-42, but the stubborn Bridge City quintet closed the gap to three points at the finish.

Jay Weiss was Poughkeepsie's top shooter with 20 points, with Stavisky hitting for 14 and Taub sinking nine.

BOWLING

'300' For Schrowang

Joe Schrowang, of the Rapp's Furniture Express squad of the Hudson Valley League, became the fifth bowler in local history to roll a perfect "300" score Monday afternoon at the Ferraro Bowl.

When the tall, sharp hooking Schrowang solved alleys 7 and 8 for 12 consecutive strikes, he joined Johnny Ferraro, Larry Petersen, Jr., Bob Hanley and Larry Weishaupt in the local Hall of Fame.

The "300" scores by Ferraro and Weishaupt were rolled in sanctioned ABC leagues.

Schrowang was engaged in an informal match with Mannie Colao and Bill Johnson when he found the range of 12 straight pocket shots. Colao and Johnson said later that Big Joe slammed every ball squarely in the 1-3 pocket.

Five other bowlers have hit 299 in local alleys, including John Ferraro, Jr., John Ferraro, Sr., Homer Emerick, the late Charles Petri and Eddie Botten, the great New Jersey match game shooter. Brown Hunter of Middletown and Frank Grimaldi were credited with 298s.

Tighten Eligibility For Harness Drivers
Columbus, O., Dec. 11 (AP)—It's going to be more difficult for harness race drivers to get a license from the United States Trotting Association.

The directors of the association, holding their annual meeting in Columbus, voted yesterday to tighten the rules for drivers.

A driver now must submit evidence of mental, moral, physical and technical qualifications. He must be at least 16 years old. He may be required to take a physical examination. He may be refused a license or have his license revoked for repeated rule violations.

He may be punished by fine or suspension for careless or reckless driving. He is subject to penalty if he "takes up" abruptly in front of a field of horses so as to confuse the trailing horses.

Sue Heins Rolls 619 In Women's Major

Sue Heins added 10 points to her Women's Major League average with a 619 series in last night's firing on the Bowldrome lanes.

The tall starlet who doubles as the league's statistician sandwiched a big 247 with other scores of 187 and 185 to send her seasonal average soaring from 153 to 163.

After converting a 5-7 split in the ninth frame of the opener and finishing with 187, she threw a string of seven straight strikes in the middle game. A "tap" broke up the skein in the eighth. She fired a strike in the ninth but had an error in the tenth on a single pin setup.

The high flying Sportsmen's Park match game squad had an aggregate of 2939 for the women who make up the special team.

The league's individual average leader, Rose Schatzel, kept her mark at 197.15 with a 225-189-182-596 blast. Ada Markle rolled a 226 solo and 653 series.

Charlotte Lapine moved to 173.31 in the averages with 192-177-186-555 and Betty Schoonmaker stands at 174.22 as the result of a 216-169-201-586 series. Beverly Port moved to 166.2 with 191-170-214-575.

Tess Moss joined the "500" parade with 208-150-162-520.

Lack of Interest

Blamed for Resorts

Having 'Off Year'

With highway traffic counts up, exceeding the previous record of 1946, with more people vacationing and each with more money to spend the 1951 resort business in the Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland area was not up to expectations. That was the story which was revealed Monday night at the annual dinner of the area newspaper editors and publishers, sponsored by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation at Judge's.

Two men who have had wide experience in resort promotion spoke to the group and endeavored to shed some light on the reasons for this "off year."

Summed up, the advice given indicated that the trouble was with the resort operators themselves and not in particular to the fact that the Catskill area does not have real vacation drawing ability.

Enterprise Is Lacking

A lack of enterprise on the part of many of the area operators was pointed out as one of the principal reasons for the drop in business. This conclusion was arrived at after it had been pointed out that in certain areas where progressive and aggressive ideas were carried out certain houses not only operated at full capacity but turned people away during a season which was considered by other houses as "poor."

Joseph Horan, New York state travel authority said many hotelmen and boarding house proprietors in the area still operated under the impression that "what was good enough for grandpa was good enough for us." This idea of trying to operate a resort business on the same scale as in 1910 is "out," he said. The vacation business is a highly competitive business, a business which can not stand still and unless places are kept modern, made attractive and kept in step with competing areas people will go elsewhere.

28 Reported Business Up

In 1951 in the Catskill mountain area as covered by the Ulster-Greene county organization, 28 hotels reported business up over the 1950 business. Forty-two hotels reported business down and 14 reported business about the same during the past season. This figure in a season when there was an all time record of traffic on the highways indicated the area was not getting its share of the potential business.

Col. James P. Schwartz, a director of Quality Courts United, Inc., a nation-wide organization which closely supervises its membership of motor courts, and in 1951 the membership numbered 275 motor court operators east of the Mississippi river and into Canada, said one of the reasons for success of the motor courts in the association was the fact that they were maintained at a high standard, properly managed Booked on a third degree burglary charge, Constable was scheduled for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Lester Davis this afternoon.

Munsan, Korea, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Korean truce isn't going to change the rotation of American troops, says Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes. Here's what the Allied negotiator told Communists today: "We have had rotation and replacement and we intend to continue rotation and replacement during the armistice. That is our firm stand."

Case for Damages

before his vehicle went over the bank.

Defendant denies the trailer or tractor, which was carrying a load of twenty tons of steel, was responsible for the accident or was operated on the left of the center line.

Includes Wages

Plaintiff Levine is represented by Koopman and Koopman of Ellenville and the S. A. Healy Company is represented by Cashin & Ewig.

Plaintiff seeks to recover for damage to the truck, tractor and for wages paid employees in clearing the road and reloading the poles, some of which were 65 feet in length. It is also alleged the trailer was so badly damaged it was necessary to hire another trailer to transport the poles in order to meet his contract in Poughkeepsie.

Blames Mayor
New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The chairman of the Port of New York Authority blames Mayor Impeller for the delay in getting a start on construction of a third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel. In a letter to the mayor made public yesterday, Howard S. Cullman, the Port Authority chairman, said he was "surprised to learn" at a recent executive session of the board of estimate that Impeller "disapproved the Port Authority's proposal to proceed at once with the construction of the under-river sections of the third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel, pending agreement on the plan of connections with city streets." Construction of a third tube is necessary in the public interest, Cullman said, adding that the Port Authority is willing to let im-

Governors of 15 states came in person. Most other governors sent representatives. They conferred on steel needs and possibilities with Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett and Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann. What they heard gave "darn little encouragement," said Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia. Battle added: "Mostly it was an explanation of why steel isn't available."

For deep snow and mud your best bet is the
